

Scholastic Seed Inc.
e-Publishing Aggregator & Periodical Mentor

Alignment of Scholastic Seed with an Institution

A seed is the tiny, solid ingredient of a plant from which a new plant grows. Thus the fundamental rationale of this entity is to broaden a scholastic orientation among the scholars which is a predominantly increasing due to the new, digital media, and is increasingly multimodal. 'Literacies' present a contemporary move towards literacy learning and teaching, developing and extending 'Multiliteracies' hypothesis and live out. Scholastic Seed had created a benchmark in the digital era and its work as come boon for startup of new periodicals by the academic institutions and universities. With a value added philosophy enabled in learning, Scholastic Seed Inc. originated as a Think-Tank and an Out-of-the-Box service provider of periodicals, online platform tool and had developed digital State-of-the-Art periodicals software exclusively for the magazines, scholarly journals, newspapers, annual reports and newsletters. In the present scenario, these publications are published at regular intervals and imbibed lots of digitization and contemporary thoughts to flourish online. Scholarly Seed by and large is an academic consultancy business firm which had been initiated initially in the year 2009, a decade back under the ambit of Not-for-Profit academic and research management society, which at presently is fully equipped with complete virtual process and takes into consideration online submission, Peer Review Process, Visualize Online Article, View the citation, readership and footfall, Digital Object Identifier (DOI), plagiarism and originality check.

Publish A Periodical / Journal With Us

What you need to know about publishing with SCHOLASTIC SEED Inc.

• Editorial control

By choosing to publish a SCHOLASTIC SEED Inc Magazine/journal, editorial control, together with decision on personage articles as well as on editorial policies regarding Magazine/journal scope, peer review, and quality doorstep, lies totally in the hands of the Editors. SCHOLASTIC SEED Inc's position is as a service supplier, making available the essential technology and undertake (an end-to-end system from submission to Editors' decisions on approval/refusal); article production and authentication in repositories such as PubMed Central; partnership with web-based services such as Crossref and with aggregators; through to Magazine/journal expansion, marketing, customer services, and in-house support for Editors, reviewers, and authors.

• Open access

SCHOLASTIC SEED commitment to open access is based on the observation that unrestricted access to investigate is vital to the quick and efficient communication of science. SCHOLASTIC SEED open access policy means that all publications are freely and generally accessible online, authors keep hold of copyright to their work, and all publications are deposited in various open access and digital documentation. Articles published in SCHOLASTIC SEED Magazines/journals are also built-in in/enclosed by PubMed a variety of other services.

• Magazine / Journal websites

SCHOLASTIC SEED journals are online publications. In cases where print is desired, for example where scientific societies wish to provide print editions for their members, solutions can be discussed. For instance, it may be suitable to produce a monthly print edition made available for purchase on demand. To provide consistency for users and to ensure maximum efficiency, our journal web sites are based on a template which offers various customization options. For examples of magazine/journal homepages, see:

• Be reassured by quality

- Our publishing staff, all scientists, will guide you through the peer review and publication process. For many of our journals, peer review is supported by our associate editors, who are all active researchers in their field.
- Combine quality with fast publication
- Across all of our journals, on average papers are first published online less than 8 weeks after submission. It's even more rapidly for communications at an standard of 6 weeks. Our accepted manuscript option allows your article to be online within 24 hours of recognition.

• Choose your open access option

- You can publish open access in any of our journals. Our article processing charges (APCs) include a choice of CC by license at no extra cost, and there are a range of discounts and waivers available. APCs are currently waived for all authors in our flagship magazine/journal
- No extra charges
- We have no page charges or submission fees, and you have free use of colour figures.